When we decided to have a moving sale, we contacted Suzie Zeigler of M & J Sales. We knew of their long standing in the community and good reputation. We were not disappointed.

Our sale was difficult because of my wife's long illness. I had maintained the house in a hap-hazard fashion. Things had been piled and stored indiscriminately. Suzie and her staff spent three weeks digging out articles from nooks and crevices and hauling a lot of junk out to the curb for the garbage man.

Suzie's knowledge of materials and goods impressed me. Her arrangement of articles for the sale was outstanding. Things were cleaned up and displayed in a most attractive manner.

M & J has a large network of followers, who Suzie keeps informed by letter, e-mail, and web site. We attracted huge crowds on both sale days. Our street had never seen anything like it.

At the sale, there were several uniformed assistants who kept traffic in the house circulating in an orderly manner and commerce flowing.

Immediately after the sale, left-over items were taken to charities and the house cleaned up. Suzie had totals computed the next day, and we received our check two days after.

We were very satisfied with Suzie Zeigler's handling of our sale.
